My Role and Accomplishments at Medicentric

The project involved legacy code that was handed over to me for redevelopment using the latest version, incorporating new features. I successfully met the primary objective, creating a robust application capable of handling 100,000 data points concurrently. Opting for the MERN stack, I dockerized the application, resulting in a significant improvement in speed, from 40% to 95%, and a remarkable reduction in downtime, from 30% to just 1%. These enhancements have contributed to the overall productivity of the company.
