My role in OB Express Mobile App

I was designated as a Mobile App Developer, and I received technology and framework recommendations from a colleague. Unfortunately, I am unable to disclose additional information due to a confidentiality agreement with the client, beyond what I have mentioned above.

My responsibilities

- Produce fully functional mobile applications by writing clean and efficient code.
- Provide support throughout the entire application lifecycle, encompassing concept development, design, testing, release, and ongoing support and maintenance.
- I will convert the project requirements into smaller tasks and assign deadlines to myself.
- I will attend weekly meetings as necessary.
- Troubleshoot and debug to optimize performance issues.
- Stay informed about the latest technology trends and advancements.
- Ensure that both new and legacy applications meet established quality standards.
- Conduct research and recommend new mobile products, applications, and protocols.

Key points that I've used to make this project successful

- Break down the project requirements into smaller, manageable tasks.
- Divide the user interface into smaller components to enhance reusability.
- Continuously assess and consider the client's feedback whenever a task or feature is completed.
- Hold periodic meetings with the client to gain a better understanding of their needs and requirements.
- Conduct live tests and demonstrations.
- Providing a test version of the app for the client to conduct stress tests is a proactive approach to addressing customer needs and enhancing performance during app development. This approach not only acknowledges the customer's requirements but also optimizes testing time, allowing more focus on development work.
